“ Donna was a one of a kind. She was the same Donna at all times when I had seen or spoken to her, she was a very dear friend of mine, even though our life changed from younger years till older years I will always miss, love, and cherish our good times together. We did a lot of fun, crazy things back in the day, then we had to grow up and take on a whole new grown-up way, but we could still be crazy kids if we wanted to. She was a good mother and wife, I remember when she and Phillip met and married they had a family and Donna was so happy, she always talked about her children. We will miss that laugh, "talk, about do you want a pop" instead of a coke. Talk about her pig farming days when she was growing up in Iowa. I love you Donna and now you are with the Lord above I will miss you. See you there when he calls for me. Keep laughing and I will see you and Maggie Mae when he is ready for me.
