“ Mrs. Harris, I've known you for 60 yrs and loved you very much. My favorite memory was the Saturday I asked momma about a song I had heard but could only hum it. Mom sent me to see you and to ask you to write the words for me to Once In The Stillness. I was so proud as you sweetly smiled, wrote the words and handed them to me and she said, I will be at church tomorrow and I want to hear you really sing thing song out loud for me. I said I sure will Mrs. Harris. Sunday when the preacher called me up for my solo and I was so little, I stood proudly, and said..I am singing the song Once in the stillness that Mrs. Harris just wrote yesterday just for me. You stood up and said OH Sylvia, child, I just rewrote those words, I did not write them off the the top of my head for you. The preacher laughed and said, Ah the innocense of a child...and said let us all hear Mrs. Harris' song now as he laughed. Ruby sat down so relieved that everyone knew the truth, but I still remember her as "MY" song writer. I love you Mrs. Harris and will miss you so...
